

Jul 04, 2019
FINAL	R	H	E		WIN
 Red Sox (46 - 41)	8	8	0		Brandon Workman (8 - 1) 1.85 ERA
 Blue Jays (33 - 55)	7	11	0		LOSS Ken Giles (1 - 2) 1.45 ERA

1. J.D. Martinez had 4 at bats last night. If J.D. Martinez had 4 at bats each game over a period of 6 games, how many at bats would he have in total?

Answer: _____

2. Last night Brandon Workman had 0 walk in the first 3 innings. If he continued at this rate for the entire game how many walks would he have had after 9 innings?

Answer: _____

3. Rafael Devers had 2 walks last night. If Rafael Devers had 2 walks each game over a period of 8 games, how many walks would he have in total?

Answer: _____

4. Christian Vazquez had 1 walk last night. If Christian Vazquez had 1 walk each game over a period of 6 games, how many walks would he have in total?

Answer: _____

5. Last night Xander Bogaerts had 5 at bats and 1 hit. What was his hit percentage in last night's game (this is called his "batting average")?

Answer: _____

This Date in Red Sox History

July 4, 2003: Bill Mueller hit a home run from both sides of the plate, accounting for 2 of 7 Red Sox home runs in a 10-3 win over NYY...Mueller would homer from both sides of the plate again on 7/29/03, becoming the 2nd Red Sox to pull the trick twice in the same year (also, Carl Everett in 2000).